Hello! I'm Jeremy, a seasoned digital artist living outside of Boston with a versatile style and a talent for developing unique custom artwork. In addition to concept art and character design, I consider myself a 2D generalist. I take pride in being adaptable, having a strong eye for lighting, color, and environment, and being able to take a design from sketch to finished polished piece. I enjoy improving my skills as an illustrator through practice and learning as much as I can about different artistic styles, tools and trends.

I've worked both as an individual and part of a team on a variety of projects. I'm comfortable receiving and giving written/visual feedback and art direction as well as working with other artist, designers and animators. If needed I can also create character turn around illustrations (front, back, 3/4 views) to help any 3D artists on the team.

Having 19 years experience in the illustration and graphic arts field, the majority of which has been done remotely, my work can be seen in games for multiple companies including Microsoft, Disney, Capcom, Konami, Big Fish Games, Udon Creative, Imagine FX, Hitpoint Studios, Infehnite Design, MDI (The Musicians Development Institute) and various Commercial Businesses.
